Time-tracking for employees on the go

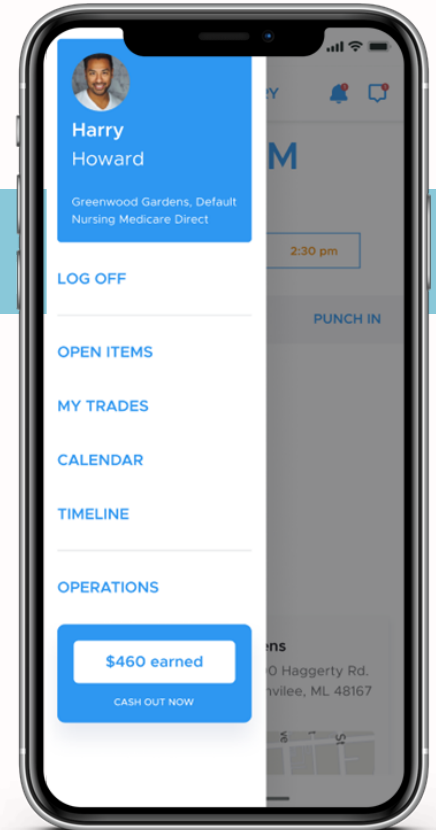

Employee Self Service (ESS) Mobile gives employees access to their time and labor tasks with a secure, modern, personalized mobile experience.

Why your company should offer ESS Mobile?

Different types of employees have different time-tracking needs. ESS Mobile is a single app that presents different options to different employees based on employee permissions.

Notifications alert employees only when they need to take action to fix missing punches, accept a trade, or read messages.

With Pay on Demand, employees can access wages they have already worked for but that haven't been paid out yet without the employer needing to front the capital. This free service promotes employees' financial health.

How does it work?

ESS Mobile records all employee timecard edits, employee notifications, and responses created by the employee. This information is transferred to Attendance on Demand in real-time.

Pay on Demand access is built into ESS Mobile. Once an employee punches out for the day, the app displays the total amount earned. This is communicated to their Clair account, and it allows employees to receive a portion of these earnings immediately. There is no reason to wait for payday.
